MARA CERQUETTI is a researcher in Management at the Department of Education, Cultural Heritage and Tourism of the University of Macerata (UniMC). At the same University she teaches Management and Organization of Cultural Institutions and Cultural Heritage Management.

After obtaining a Master’s Degree in Management and Conservation of Cultural Heritage and undergoing additional training in Economics, Management and Enhancement of Cultural Heritage, she carried out research at the Cultural Observatory of Marche Region. In 2006 she collaborated with the Centre of Excellence on Museum Management in the analysis of the Marche Region’s local museum conditions and in 2008 she participated in the research ‘Standards, guidelines and scheduling for museum accreditation in Marche Region’.

She has held seminars in Tunisia (ISEAH – Institut Supérieur des Etudes Appliquées aux Humanités in Tozeur – Université de Gafsa, 2009), France (Master franco-italien en Histoire de l’art et Management des biens culturels, UPMF – Grenoble et UniMC, 2012), Croatia (University of Zagreb, 2015; University of Split, 2017), and Spain (Facultad de Turismo de Oviedo, 2016). From January to April 2016 she was visiting scholar at Goldsmiths University in London.

She has been a member of the Scientific Committee and Editorial Board of the Journal «IL CAPITALE CULTURALE. Studies on the Value of Cultural Heritage» (<<http://riviste.unimc.it/index.php/cap-cult>>) since 2010.

She has also been a member of UniMC research team on Cultural Heritage including Multilingualism issues since 2014. In order to promote UniMC International research, she has participated in several international conferences and workshops. Among them: the European Policy Workshop ‘Future of Cultural Heritage – Impact of external developments’ (Brussels, 18 December 2012), the International Conference & Brokerage Event ‘Achieving Impact: Socio-economic Sciences and Humanities (SSH) in Horizon 2020’ (Athens, 26-27 February 2014) and the Workshop on Reflective Societies ‘Bridge over troubled waters? The link between European historical heritage and the future of European integration’ (Rome, 17 October 2014).

In 2014, she participated in the project ‘Patrimonio cultural y ciudadanía’ supported by CUIA (Consorzio interUniversitario Italiano per l’Argentina), attending two workshops in Buenos Aires on ‘Patrimonio cultural inmaterial’ and ‘Estrategias innovativas en la gestión y valorización del paisaje cultural: experiencias italianas y argentinas en comparación’. As UniMC’s delegate, she is a member of the International Steering Committee for the implementation of the ‘SMART Value project – Values and valuation as key factors in protection, conservation and contemporary use of heritage – a collaborative research of European cultural heritage’ (Joint Programming Initiative JPI – Coordination Action: JHEP Joint Heritage European Programme 2013-2016).

RESEARCH ACTIVITY

Her research and publications focus on cultural heritage value, cultural policy and management, museum management and marketing, museum visitor studies, sustainable tourism and the link between cultural heritage and made in Italy.

Studying the enhancement of local cultural heritage, she has concentrated on tools and strategies for audience development and the possible application of experiential marketing to the management of local museums. In 2014 she published the volume ‘Marketing museale e creazione di valore. Strategie per l’innovazione dei musei italiani’ [Museum marketing and value creation. Strategies for Italian museums’ innovation], highlighting local museums’ distinctive features and meeting the need of authenticity expressed by new publics: a theoretical framework is provided based on the innovation of museum communication and on museums as pivots to experience local culture.

The theme of sustainability in museum management is still underdeveloped in the international literature, despite the potential benefits for different actors (museums, local people, customers, etc.). Considering this gap and the distinctive features of Italian museums, she has tried to provide a conceptual model applying the principles of sustainable development to the enhancement of cultural heritage and focusing on strengths and weaknesses of museum networks.

The current research aims at analysing if the made in Italy (agrifood and fashion) industry is able to incorporate local distinctive knowledge and heritage into production processes and enhance it into becoming a competitive advantage.

Her current research also focuses on cultural heritage value, shifting from heritage value assessment to public value creation and measurement: the role of standards and indicators in enhancement activities is studied as tools to measure, evaluate and improve cultural institution performances and achieve institutional goals. Particular attention is given to processes and procedures to progressively accomplish the different steps for museum improvement and development and relationships between museums and other public and private organizations, which operate at different institutional levels and are involved in cultural heritage management.

Moreover, a recent research topic is the impact of cultural policies on cultural heritage management and museum development and the relationship between the subsidized sector and cultural and creative industries.

She has participated in several International conferences: ‘Heritage 2010’ – 2nd International Conference on Heritage and sustainable Development (Évora, 22-26 June 2010); ‘Can I Google it?’ – ENCATC’s 18th Annual Conference (Brussels, 6-8 October 2010); ‘Management Culture in the 21st Century’ – EURAM 11th Annual Conference (Tallinn, 1-4 June 2011); ‘Marketing Places and Spaces. Shifting Tourist Flows’, 5th Advances in Tourism Marketing Conference (Vilamoura, 2-4 October 2013); ‘The European Pilgrimage Routes for promoting sustainable and quality tourism in rural areas International Conference’ (Florence, 4-6 December 2014); XIII International Scientific Conference ‘How to assess built heritage?
